

Prepaid Reviews Passes the 1600 Consumer Review Mark and Launches a New Compare Function

Prepaidreviews.com achieves a new consumer review milestone by now offering over 1600 consumer reviews of pay as you go phones and announces the launch of their "Quick Compare" feature.

Guelph, ON (PRWeb) February 6, 2008 -- Prepaid Reviews, a leading website featuring information on prepaid mobile phones, announced today that their website reached a new consumer review milestone in January and now features over 1600 consumer generated reviews to accompany their in depth editorial reviews of over 25 providers including AT&T Go Phone, Net10, TracFone and more.

"Our visitors not only get an in depth breakdown of the service that is easy to understand, but also get feedback from hundreds of people who have actually used the providers," says Rae Hoffman, VP of Marketing for Prepaidreviews.com. "We're really proud of the resource we've already built, but we also have every intention of doing everything we can to make it even better."

Indeed, Prepaid Reviews also announced today the launch of their "Quick Compare" feature that allows consumers to choose any three carriers reviewed on the website and compare their basic features side by side for a quick comparison. "We make our editorial reviews as detailed as possible, but we know you might not need to read everything in the review until you've narrowed down your choice of providers," says Joe Pawlikowski, Senior Editor for the Prepaid Reviews website. "That's where Quick Compare comes in. Now you can get a quick overview before diving into the full review."

Established in 2005, Prepaid Reviews offers in-depth review information on 25 of the top prepaid mobile phone providers and features over 1000 user contributed reviews on those same carriers. Additionally, the site provides coverage of the prepaid wireless industry as a whole by reporting on industry news and providing original interviews and coverage through their blog, which is updated daily. The site continues to achieve increasing popularity as the top destination for information on prepaid cellular carriers.
